

20th Anniversary of Xeno

For 20 years now the Xeno series have been popular among players of all ages since its debut for its excellence in playability, quality and design. To celebrate the 20th anniversary of this remarkable range, Yamaha are pleased to introduce a special Limited Edition Anniversary model.

The Xeno 20th Anniversary Limited Edition Model (YTR-8335RS20TH) features an extra-ordinary overall design which combines specifications of different Xeno models. The result is an instrument which can be described as the perfect all round instrument at home both in classical music and jazz. Featuring a large bell, a reversed leadpipe and gold plated Valve caps and buttons, this model produces a powerful and warm sound, with great flexibility and an agile and very quick response.

The Xeno Story

Driven by a strong passion by our designers to create an instrument that would be played on stage by the top orchestras from around the world, Yamaha's first heavyweight model, a predecessor of the Xeno Series was born in 1986. Building on the achievements of this model, Yamaha made further developments before releasing a limited edition model in Japan in 1990, which was the beginning of the Xeno series.

The Xeno project involved internationally acclaimed players and technicians who carried out countless prototypes and part tests. As a result a further refined model, the YTR-8335S was released to the world market in 2001.

The spirit of Xeno is to constantly push the boundaries of the development of new instruments, always improving and innovating to create instruments with perfect playability and tonal quality. The history of the development of Xeno is a fusion of the artist's deep musical sensitivity and skill with the uncompromising expertise and engineering of our designers and craftsman. Yamaha have now produced an outstanding series of instruments under the Xeno name.

The YTR-8335RS20TH comes with a Special Edition gold-plated 16C4 Mouthpiece.

The large one-piece Yellow Brass Bell (134.4 mm) provides a warm and powerful sound and includes a special 20th Anniversary engraving and a French bead rim.

Other great features include gold plated Artist Model Finger Buttons, Xeno style gold plated upper and lower valve caps and a long type waterkey to help players achieve their desired sound.

The weight distribution of the 3rd slide is perfectly aligned and features a uniquely designed slide stopper - which offers an easy response and great playability.

The unique retro design case offers space for two trumpets plus accessories.
